

Online
Guest
Speaker's Event

Organizer:Center for Global Engagement
University of Hyogo

Co-Organizer:The consortium Universities in Hyogo

IS SOGIESC REALLY ALL THAT IMPORTANT? THINKING ABOUT OURSELVES AND THE WORLD

RONNI ALEXANDER

Coordinator, Kobe University Gender Equality
Office, Kobe University
Inclusive Campus & Healthcare Center
Professor Emerita, Kobe University

Recently, there has been increasing discussion in the media and elsewhere of LGBTQI+ issues, but has the world really become more knowledgeable about and open to sexual and gender difference? What about you? Are you aware that there are people who have applied for refugee status in Japan on the basis of their sexual orientation? Did you know that if you are a transgender person and want to join the army to defend Ukraine, you will not be allowed to do so? The lecture will provide a brief introduction to terminology such as SOGIESC and then use examples from different parts of the world to consider ways in which sexual/gender identity is important for others, and for ourselves.

Date and Time : July 4,2022 16:20-17:50

Please send email to receive ZOOM ID for online participation

(Email address) cge@ofc.u-hyogo.ac.jp

(Email title/message)SOGIESC/your university name, your major and your name

Contact :Center for Global Engagement
University of Hyogo

Tel: 078-794-6615

Email:cge@ofc.u-hyogo.ac.jp